Tag a Trout/Salmon— The Sebago TU Telemetry Project

Trout Unlimited, NH Fish and Game, and Dartmouth College, are teaming up to improve fisheries management in the Upper Androscoggin Watershed this coming Spring by conducting a telemetry study of migration patterns of brook trout and salmon in the Swift Diamond River. The Swift Diamond runs through the Dartmouth College Grant, joins the Dead Diamond River, and then flows into the Magalloway River and Umbagog Lake not far from our beloved Rapid River. This area is home to some of the best wild brook trout and landlocked salmon fishing in the United States, with recent catches of brook trout up to five pounds reported in the watershed.

YOU CAN HELP! Tagging starts in early May, and Sebago TU is heading the fund-raising to purchase 30-40 radio telemetry tags @ $150 each before April 1, 2010. This is your chance to help the fish and get involved!

Sebago TU is a non-profit authorized chapter of Trout Unlimited, a 501(3)(c) corporation, and is serving as the purchasing agent for tags on this project. You do not have to be a member of Trout Unlimited to participate.

Each of your tags will be implanted in wild fish by trained biologists. You will receive information about YOUR FISH, including date, type, and location tagged, its length and weight, and you will then receive periodic updates throughout the study period about the location and migration patterns of YOUR FISH!

VISIT YOUR FISH! Opportunities will be provided on an "as needed" basis for tag owners to help track fish.
